L. M. Wood, the druggist, is improving his business house. He is putting in a beautiful modern front extending the building several feet on the west and will put what is now the front, to the rear entrance remove the partition and entirely renovate the house, making a beautiful as well as convenient room. Mr. Wood is a progressive business man and will have an up-to-date business house.

Try Lyell's bread and pastry cooking of all kinds. There is none better.

A mouse, as timid as the rest of his kind, went frisking around a cellar and came to a pool made by a leak from a whiskey barrel. He drank a little from the pool and went away. Then he came back and drank a little more. He came back and forth a half dozen times. The last time he reared up on his hunches and said: "Now show me the cat."—Exchange.

Restoring Frozen Plants.

If by chance the baby rambler in their pots should freeze, restoration is easy and sure simply by thawing them out in perfect darkness—absolute Egyptian darkness. Cover any frozen plant securely, without one ray of light to penetrate the darkness, until the weather moderates and the plant gradually thaws, and there will be no sign of its ever having been frozen.—Good Housekeeping.

Editor Mayhall in the Bowling Green Times: A gentleman requested that we publish the cause of the high cost of living. Our views in a condensed form are that we've let a lot of timber go to waste and are buying wire fences and lumber from foreign countries; we throw away our grease and ashes and buy soap; we raise too many dogs and buy too many hogs; we raise too many weeds and buy too many vegetables; we catch a five-cent fish with a $4 rod; we build a school house and send our children off to be educated; we send our boys out with a $10 gun and a $10 dog to hunt five-cent rabbits and ten-cent birds, and lastly we mortgage our homes to buy four-priced automobiles that we don't know how to operate or keep up. It is the cost of "high living," and not the high cost of living that ails this country.—Ex.

D. R. Campbell left today for Elgin, Mo., to invoice a stock of goods.

Hear ye! Hear ye!

The old town crier was in his day a most effective medium for distributing information. But he has been relegated to the scrap heap, along with the "Boy Wanted" placard.

Our want ads are the official town criers of this community.

The cost is little.

Swat Indirect.

Mandy—What foh yo ben goin' to de postoffice so reg'lar? Are yo' correspondin' wit some other female? Rastus—Nope; but since ah been a readin' in de papers 'bout dese 'conscience funds ah kind of thought ah might possibly git a lettah from dat ministah what married us.—Life.

One Consolation.

"Poor fellow, he hasn't a friend in the world." "Gee! he ought to be saving money!"
